

Dr. Ghita Mezzour is the Moroccan Minister in charge of Digital Transition and Administration Reform. Prior to her appointment, she worked as an entrepreneur and as an academic on developing digital solutions that have strong socio-economic impact. She holds a PhD from Carnegie Mellon University and a master's and a bachelor's from the Swiss Federal Institute of Technology in Lausanne. Dr. Mezzour has received multiple international awards for her work.