

Deborah Lehr
Vice Chair & Executive Director, Paulson Institute
CEO & Managing Director, Edelman Global Advisory

Deborah Lehr serves as the Vice Chair and Executive Director of the Paulson Institute, a think tank founded by former Treasury Secretary Hank Paulson. In addition, she is the Chief Executive Officer and Managing Director of Edelman Global Advisory, a strategic business consulting firm.

Deborah has thirty years of China experience, including serving as Deputy Assistant US Trade Representative for China, where she was a lead negotiator for China's accession to the World Trade Organization, and as Director of Asian Affairs at the National Security Council. She has also been a long-term adviser to Mr. Paulson, including advising him while he was CEO and Chairman of Goldman Sachs, and helping then-Treasury Secretary Paulson create and launch the US-China Strategic Economic Dialogue. She continues to advise Mr. Paulson on US-China relations as Executive Director of the Paulson Institute. Deborah also sits on the board of the US-China Business Council.

Deborah previously built and managed three successful consulting businesses representing diverse Western and Chinese companies where she provided strategic advice and counsel on their growth in China and other markets.

Deborah has also held a variety of senior level positions in the private sector and US government. She served as a Senior Managing Director at the New York Stock Exchange focused on emerging markets and was President of Stonebridge China. Prior to joining Stonebridge, Deborah was a partner at Mayer, Brown, Rowe & Maw, a global top-10 law firm, where she helped build a successful trade business.

Deborah is the founder and Chairman of the Antiquities Coalition, focused on fighting the illicit trade in antiquities. She is a member of the Council on Foreign Relations, and serves on the Board of the World Monuments Fund, the Middle East Institute, the International Advisory Board of the London School of Economics, and the Sesame Workshop Global Advisory Board. UNESCO has nominated Deborah as one of its inaugural list of accomplished global women. She also received the prestigious Hadrian Award from the World Monuments Fund for her work in fighting the illicit trade in antiquities.
